

No one who has once become accustomed to the convenience of the Electric Range

would ever be satisfied to cook again with a coal or wood stove.

Just think of it—no carrying of heavy scuttles of coal; no ashes to remove; no coal gas; no waste heat.

May we show you this range and explain our new cooking rates?

HALLOWEEN WELCOMED

By Spirits of the Night Who Leave Marks of Their Visit—Halloween Parties in Town.

Witches, spirits, hobgoblins and all the various evil associations of Halloween night visited St. Johnsbury, the evening before All Saints' Day. Many were the mysterious noises and whisperings heard during the night, but as the midnight hour approached the yelp for the spirit land to remain for another year. In their trail numerous marks of their night's work were evident about town. Many curious hieroglyphics were to be seen on store windows at break of day, placed there no doubt, during the aimless wanderings of the evening's visitors.

A few loose articles around the village were not in their accustomed places as day broke, although some people thought to fall down every-thing left out of doors. Bands of children made the early hours of evening pass pleasantly with parades about the streets dressed in appropriate trappings. Jack o' Lanterns and kindred lights were much in evidence and added to the festivities of the evening. Parties were held at different places about the town.

Telephone Operators Entertained.

Mrs. Annie Brooks entertained the telephone operators at the home of Mrs. C. W. Hoyer on Emerson street, Tuesday night. A real Halloween party was in order during the evening and all the games and stunts of the night were indulged in by the 25 or more young ladies present. Many original and fantastic costumes were in evidence. Refreshments of coffee, cake, pumpkin pie and sandwiches were served during the evening.

Children Hold Party.

Barbara Gray entertained 14 of her boy and girl friends at a Halloween party held Tuesday evening at her home on Portland street. The evening was spent in playing games which were entered into with a will by the young people present. Some of the children wore vari-colored, and many character costumes, which was all fun for them. Refreshments were served during the evening by Mrs. Gray.

Catholic Conference.

Burlington Diocese Held at Notre Dame—Dinner to Clergy in Evening By Fr. Drouhin.

Rt. Rev. J. J. Rice, D. D., of Burlington, bishop of the diocese, presided over the Annual Ecclesiastical Conference for Catholic clergymen of the eastern section of the diocese of Burlington held at Notre Dame church last Tuesday.

Fifteen priests from the section attended the conference held during the day. In the evening the customary dinner to the clergy was given at the St. Aloysius rectory where Father Drouhin has been the guest of Father Dwyer since last April pending the completion of the Notre Dame rectory.

Among those attending the conference were: Rev. E. C. Drouhin, P. R., Rev. John W. Dwyer, Rev. A. J. LeVeer and Rev. D. Carrier of St. Johnsbury; Rev. J. A. Campeau of Windsor; Rev. Charles Pontbriand, Lyndonville; Rev. C. Delaney, White River Junction; Rev. John Kennedy, Hardwick; Rev. J. E. LaBlanc, Lowell; Rev. J. M. Bastien, Newport; Rev. L. Marceau, Barton, and Rev. Bernard W. McMahon of East Albany, Vt.

Museum Notes.

A general summary of the Flower Calendar kept at the Museum this season may be of interest to those who have followed the reports of it from week to week.

From April 3, when the first spring flowers appeared, to October 31 the flower tables have shown 617 species of flowering plants and 49 of ferns and fern allies collected within a radius of five miles from the Museum. In addition to those, 95 species of rare and interesting plants have been sent from the sea-coast and the mountains and collected from neighboring Vermont towns, making a total of 712 species for the season. To continue the life-story of many of the plants, 82 local species have been shown in the fruiting stage. Owing to the exceedingly frosty nights of October, but few species of plants are having a second period of blooming.

With the passing of the flowers, an interesting collection of mosses and lichens are taking their place at the Museum.

Dr. Carleton Elected.

At the 15th annual Vermont State Osteopathic association meeting held in Montpelier Wednesday October 25, Dr. Fannie T. Carleton of St. Johnsbury was elected secretary and treasurer for ensuing year. Dr. Carleton also delivered a paper in the afternoon on "The School Children."

C. A. CRAMTON, M. D.

ST. J. A. SPECIAL SERVICE

In Chapel Tuesday Morning—Interesting Address by Rev. Arthur Hewitt of Plainfield.

Special services were held in chapel Tuesday morning, the principal speaker being Rev. Arthur W. Hewitt of Plainfield. The services began with the singing of the hymn, "God, the Father" by the whole school. Dr. Benedict led in the responsive reading of the first part of Psalm CXIX. The announcement that Miss Marjorie Cramton would render a violin solo was received with applause. Miss Cramton generously responded to an encore after delighting her audience with the selection, "Ries Adagio." Upon being introduced by Dr. Benedict, Rev. Hewitt opened his talk with a humorous story.

His talk consisted of timely advice to young people, well illustrated with stories.
